After propensity score weighting, patients who were treated with STC did not have a significant difference test in PFS compared to patients treated with SFC on weighted log-rank test (79.8% vs. 76.98%, p = 0.11).